

Emerge

11 July 2022

In America, we know God changes his mind. We oblige him with all of our talk about time and Democracy. Where, after all, does one find something permanent.
Surely not here, where we bind ourselves freely to change, and await the next Mind, with its talk about how all is fine.
But ennui is outdated, and we feel confined by ourselves and our origins, soaking with brine, emerge fresh from the foam to remind us how we know God changes his mind.